Discography Of The Vanguard Label

Vanguard Records was established in New York City in 1947. It was owned by Maynard and Seymour Solomon. The label released classical, folk, international, jazz, pop, spoken word, rhythm and blues and blues. Vanguard had a subsidiary called Bach Guild that released classical music.

The Solomon brothers started the company with a loan of $10,000 from their family and rented a small office on 80 East 11th Street. The label was started just as the 33 1/3 RPM LP was just gaining popularity and Vanguard concentrated on LP’s. Vanguard commissioned recordings of five Bach Cantatas and those were the first releases on the label. As the long play market expanded Vanguard moved into other fields of music besides classical. The famed producer John Hammond (Discoverer of Robert Johnson, Bruce Springsteen Billie Holiday, Bob Dylan and Aretha Franklin) came in to supervise a jazz series called Jazz Showcase.

The Solomon brothers’ politics was left leaning and many of the artists on Vanguard were black-listed by the House Un-American Activities Committee. Vanguard ignored the black-list of performers and had success with Cisco Houston, Paul Robeson and the Weavers. The Weavers were so successful that Vanguard moved more and more into the popular field. Folk music became the main focus of the label and the home of Joan Baez, Ian and Sylvia, Rooftop Singers, Ramblin’ Jack Elliott, Doc Watson, Country Joe and the Fish and many others.

During the 1950’s and early 1960’s, a folk festival was held each year in Newport Rhode Island and Vanguard recorded and issued albums from the those events.

Vanguard Records was purchased by the Welk Group in 1986. The Welk Group was founded by bandleader Lawrence Welk and is run by his heirs today. The Welk Group also owns Ranwood and Sugarhill records. After purchasing Vanguard, the Welk Group proceeded to reissue the Vanguard catalog extensively. The Vanguard recordings were issued on a multitude of compact discs. Individual artists’ recordings were sliced up into what seems like an infinite number of compilation albums. The Welk Group also rereleased the original Vanguard albums in CD format with bonus tracks added. In the late 90’s and 2000’s the Welk Group also issued new material using the Vanguard label.

This Discography does not include Vanguard classical series or Bach Guild classical series except for the classical releases in the 2000 stereo series, which includes both popular and classical records.

The Vanguard Label discography was compiled using our record collections, Schwann Catalogs from 1953 to 1982, a Phono-Log from 1963, and various other sources. Tracks are listed in order they appear on the albums, when known. The internet was the source of information on the later Vanguard releases. The double slash (//) is indication of the separation between sides. Titles listed without a double slash (//) are listed as printed in the Phono-Log or Schwann catalogs, and the separation between side one and side two is unknown. Titles with an asterisk (*) in front of the number have the titles listed alphabetically since track order is unknown. For those albums where the track-by-track stereo content is indicated, (S) means true stereo, (E) means electronic (fake) stereo, and (M) means mono.

This Vanguard discography covers the label from its inception to approximately 2007.

The first Vanguard label used on the 10 inch series is maroon with silver print. The outside edge of the label is silver, with “Vanguard” in maroon with a silver background to the left of the center hole. The Lancer logo is at the top and a scripted “Vanguard” is at the left of the center hole.

While the maroon label was used for monaural, a black label with silver print was used for stereo. This label was used on the 2000 stereo series which are stereo releases of the 9000, 8500 and 1000 series. “VANGUARD” in block letters above the center hole. An half circle “Stereolab” logo is above the center hole and below the Vanguard name.

During this time a promotional Vanguard label was also used, which was white with black print. Printing was the same as the label on the 9000 series. The label is marked with “Promotion Record-Not for Sale” or “Demonstration Copy” above the center hole.

For stereo releases the Vanguard label was orange with black print. “VANGUARD” above the center hole, the Lancer logo in white below the center hole, “STEREOLAB” in black to the right of the Lancer logo. This label was used on stereo 79000 releases at the same time the silver label was used on monaural releases.
The seldom used label during this period was yellow with black print. The design was the same as the orange stereolab releases. This label was apparently used for Record club of America releases of Vanguard material.

Next was the most familiar Vanguard label, gold with black print. “VANGUARD” above the center hole, the Lancer logo in white below the center hole, “STEREO” in black to the right of the Lancer logo. This label was used for 10 years and started when Vanguard discontinued mono releases at the end of 1967.

The Vanguard 3000/73000 series used a silver label with black print. “VANGUARD EVERYMAN SERIES” above the center hole. The Lancer logo did not appear, but a stylized human head was below the center hole.

The Vanguard 6000 series used a wood grained label in brown with black printing. “VANGUARD” in white above the center hole. Also a white label with a globe in beige was used on this series, ‘VANGUARD” in black above the center hole. The Lancer logo was in black below the center hole. It’s unclear which of these labels was used first or they both may be reissue labels.

After Vanguard was taken over by the Welk Group, a yellow label with black print was used with “Vanguard Records, a Welk Group Company, Santa Monica, CA 90401: below the center hole.

2000 Series by Stereo Release Numbers:

In the early days of stereo, Vanguard used a separate 2000 numbering system for stereo releases. This series included stereo releases of classical records that were in the Vanguard 1000 series in addition to the stereo releases of the Vanguard 8500 and 9000 series of monaural popular releases. Of the Popular releases in the 9000 series, the inner sleeves of Vanguard albums indicated that 9052 by Ronnie Gilbert and 9068 by Leon Lishner had stereo versions released; their numbers are unknown if they were released. In 1964, Vanguard stopped using a separate 2000 number for a stereo release and started adding a 7 in front of the monaural number to indicate a stereo release, so VRS 9254 monaural became VSD 79254. The same was true of the 1000 classical series which added a 7 in front of the number for the stereo release.
